On Pursuing Fashion

Nowadays, more and more undergraduates are pursuing fashion. Some of them even cut down the expenditure on books and meals to satisfy their desire for fashionable items.

The blind following of fashion has had a great influence on college students. First of all, the pursuit of fashion has made many college students get lost. Some of them even fail to focus on their study. Secondly, it is a costly hobby to follow the tide, which will impose great financial burden on their parents.

As far as I am concerned, college students should cherish ambitions rather than become slaves of fashion. As for them, the main task on campus is not to pursue fashion but to study. All in all, undergraduates should adopt a more reasonable attitude towards the pursuit of fashion.

Free Admission to Parks

To encourage people to go outside and relax, a mounting number of parks offer free admission now. People benefit from it, especially during these tough economic times. With free entry, more people will have the opportunity for affordable vacations for families, taking pleasure in the natural landscape.

Fresh air and landscapes in parks are good for people. However, too many people flocking into parks might not be so good for the parks.

For example, some visitors leave their garbage behind, which may cause environmental pollution. And people's barbecues and stamping will also bring damage to the grassland in parks.

As a university student, I'm in favor of free admission to parks. Free entry to parks not only saves people's expenditure, but also makes things fairer — people like the poor and students can go to parks frequently as well. On the other hand, visitors should be informed to preserve the environment while enjoying the beauty of the nature.

Environmental Disruption

As we can see from the picture, a couple were leaving the park but left watermelon skin on the bench of the park with seeds spread here and there, while the dustbin was just standing beside them. It is not hard to find that the phenomenon of environment disruption in public places is becoming more and more common.

There are many reasons for this phenomenon, and here are my opinions. First, people are short of the awareness of environment protection. What is more, the public haven't developed good life habits of protecting the environment. Last but not least, the regulations and rules of public places are not specific enough, which leads to people's indifference to environmental protection.

In view of the seriousness of the problem, we should find several solutions. For one thing, relevant authorities should take proper steps such as working out some rules. For another, the public should be educated to improve themselves. Only in this way can we put an end to this problem.
